DIVISION 2 HEADLINES

GREENVILLE'S 10TH STREET CONNECTOR

The new 10th Street Connector in Greenville was dedicated to two 20th Century Eastern North Carolina pioneers: Dr. Leo Jenkins, longtime president and later chancellor of East Carolina University, and Dr. Andrew Best, a physician, civil rights leader and ECU trustee. The 1.4-mile, four-lane divided road reduces congestion and improves connectivity between Vidant Medical Center and Greenville's central business district.

SOUTHWEST BYPASS

The N.C. 11 Southwest Bypass in Pitt County is now being used by drivers. In November, NCDOT hosted a ribbon-cutting event to open the four-lane, 12.6-mile freeway. This bypass will relieve congestion and improve safety, particularly on Greenville's Memorial Drive.

JONES COUNTY U.S. 17 BYPASS

Transportation Secretary Jim Trogdon was the keynote speaker as NCDOT opened the U.S. 17 Bypass in Jones County ahead of schedule in November. The project was identified years ago by NCDOT and Jones County as one of the region's main priorities and, as such, was accelerated.
